

The People Project Testimonial

The FM People Project delivered both an enlightening group experience for our Chamber staff, and an impactful series of lessons for me to reflect on personally as a friend, family member, coworker and employee. The practices covered in this program really helped us take a step back from the hustle and demands of daily business and take time to really consider and focus on the human aspect of what makes our organization tick. These cases ranged from intrapersonal awareness and development to interpersonal skills and relationship building, and being cognizant of how all of these skills and interactions affect the people around us.

Whether an entire team takes something away from this program, or just one single individual, it will undoubtedly make a positive impact on culture, purpose, and relationships in an organization and beyond. I will be continually looking back on this project as a reminder to myself of the impact we all have on each other.
